

Leaving town?

The CCSD recommends shutting off the water supply to your home or business when you will be away for an extended period of time. Part-timer? Going on vacation? Shut off your water at the main inlet to your home to prevent costly water loss or property damage from undetected leaks.

Want to stop leaks in their tracks? Invest in a residential leak detection system such as the Flume Smart Water System or FLO Smart Water Detector by Moen. These devices detect water loss and alert you or a designated emergency contact. The FLO will even shut off your water supply automatically when water loss is detected.
